Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 18 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloudy for most tonight with some patchy drizzle.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some clear periods possible across the east this evening and overnight. Otherwise staying cloudy, chance of a little drizzle across the far north. Brisk northwesterly along the east coast. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Friday:
A cloudy start but some sunshine breaking through in the afternoon, the northwest may stay rather cloudy. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A mainly dry but often cloudy few days ahead. Some brightness likely at times, feeling mild in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.